

Everything in your life is preparing you for something that hasn't happened yet.

You may not be able to see how all the dots connect on the map of your life, but I promise you they will all connect in the end.